

Author: Krzysztof Kurosz

Title: Samorealizacja osoby ludzkiej jako element definicji dóbr osobistych Zbigniewa Radwańskiego (uwagi na temat ochrony dóbr osobistych w świetle koncepcji psychologicznej Abrahama Maslowa) / Self-realization of the human person as an element of the definition of personal rights by Zbigniew Radwański (comments on the protection of personal rights in the light of Abraham Maslow's psychological concept)

Source: Kwartalnik Prawa Prywatnego („Quarterly of Private Law”)

Year: 2016, vol. XXV, number 3, pages: 465-536

Keywords: Rights of Personality, Polish Law, Protection of Personality

Discipline: Law (Private Law, Civil Law)

Language: Polish

Document type: Article

Publication order reference: University of Lodz, Faculty of Law and Administration, Łódź

Abstract:

The published text is the voice in the discussion referring to substantiation of protection of personality rights in Poland. There are tensions between the closed catalogue of the sources of law and the freedom of the courts in the protection of personal rights. One of the ways of solution of the conflict is to link the personal rights of immutable human needs described by Abraham Maslow. Maslow's hierarchy of needs is a motivational theory in psychology comprising a five tier model of human needs (physiological, safety, belongingness and love, esteem, self-actualization).

The author analyzes the court decisions, in particular on family ties, the basic biological needs and deprivation of access to electricity and water. In particular, the author stresses that although self-realization can not be fully protected, it plays an important role in determining the limits of the protection of personal rights.