

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I wish gratefully to acknowledge the help I received from many individuals and institutions which supported me in my work at different stages of its realization. Without their generous cooperation the catalogue presented below could not have been made.

Firstly, I wish to express my appreciation to Prof. Janusz K. Kozłowski who made it possible for me to work on the Kluger Collection and obtained the funds for the preparation of the catalogue for printing and its publication. I am really grateful to Dr. hab. Mariusz S. Ziółkowski, Director of the Archaeological Andean Mission of Warsaw University, my superior and long-standing friend for recommend me to carry out this project.

Many people assisted me in my research on cultural provenience of individual specimens. I am deeply indebted to my friends and colleagues from Museo Nacional de Arqueología, Antropología e Historia del Perú in Lima, who offered me their time and attention, and gave me access to the priceless pottery collection at that Museum. I would thus like to express my sincere thanks to the Director of the MNAAHP, Dr. Fernando Rosas, to the Library Manager, Mr. Benjamín Guerrero and to all the staff of the Pottery Department, especially to its Manager, Ms. Lucy Linares and Ms. Fanny Montesinos, as well as Mr. José Roel, Mr. Francisco Merino and Mr. Francisco Bazán. During the excavations undertaken by Centro Italiano Studi e Ricerche Archeologiche Precolombiane in Cahuachi (Nazca, Peru) in 1996 I discussed the above matter with many archaeologists, who helped me a great deal. I am highly indebted to the Director of the Nasca Project, Dr. Giuseppe Orefici and also to Mr. Walter Tosso, Mr. Mario Ruales and Mr. Angel Sanchez. My special thanks go to Ms. Nadeshna Molina who spent a lot of time consulting all the material of the Kluger Collection and offered me her help and invaluable friendship. I am also highly indebted to the professors of Pontificia Universidad Católica del Perú in Lima: Dr. Krzysztof Makowski, Dr. Peter Kaulicke and also to Dr. Henning Bichof from Reiss Museum in Mannheim for all the important observations and criticism. I wish to thank all the Library staff of Instituto Francés de Estudios Andinos in Lima for their help during my bibliographical research.

I would also like to express my gratitude to all those who directly contributed their share in this book, especially the scholars of the Archaeological Museum in Cracow, Dr. Hanna Szymańska and Mr. Krzysztof Babraj, who take care of all the pieces forming the Kluger Collection and who are the authors of the introductory chapter of this book dedicated to Władysław Kluger's life and the history of the collection. I would like to thank to Mr. Tomasz Kalarus for excellent photographs and friendship and Ms. Eunika Chrobry for the drawings. I obtained the photographs of Chancay pottery figurines MAK/AS/P.149 and MAK/AS/P.150 (Pl. no. 61 and Pl. no. 62) from Mr. Marcin Pikus, the student of the Conservation Faculty of the Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń, where both figurines are presently deposited. I would also like to thank Prof. Bruce McQueen for translating all the texts in the catalogue into English.

Finally, I would like to acknowledge the support and help I received from my friends and family. Special thanks go to Ms. Katarzyna Opaszowska, Mr. Andrzej Flis, and my Mother, without whose devotion I would probably never have become an archaeologist.
